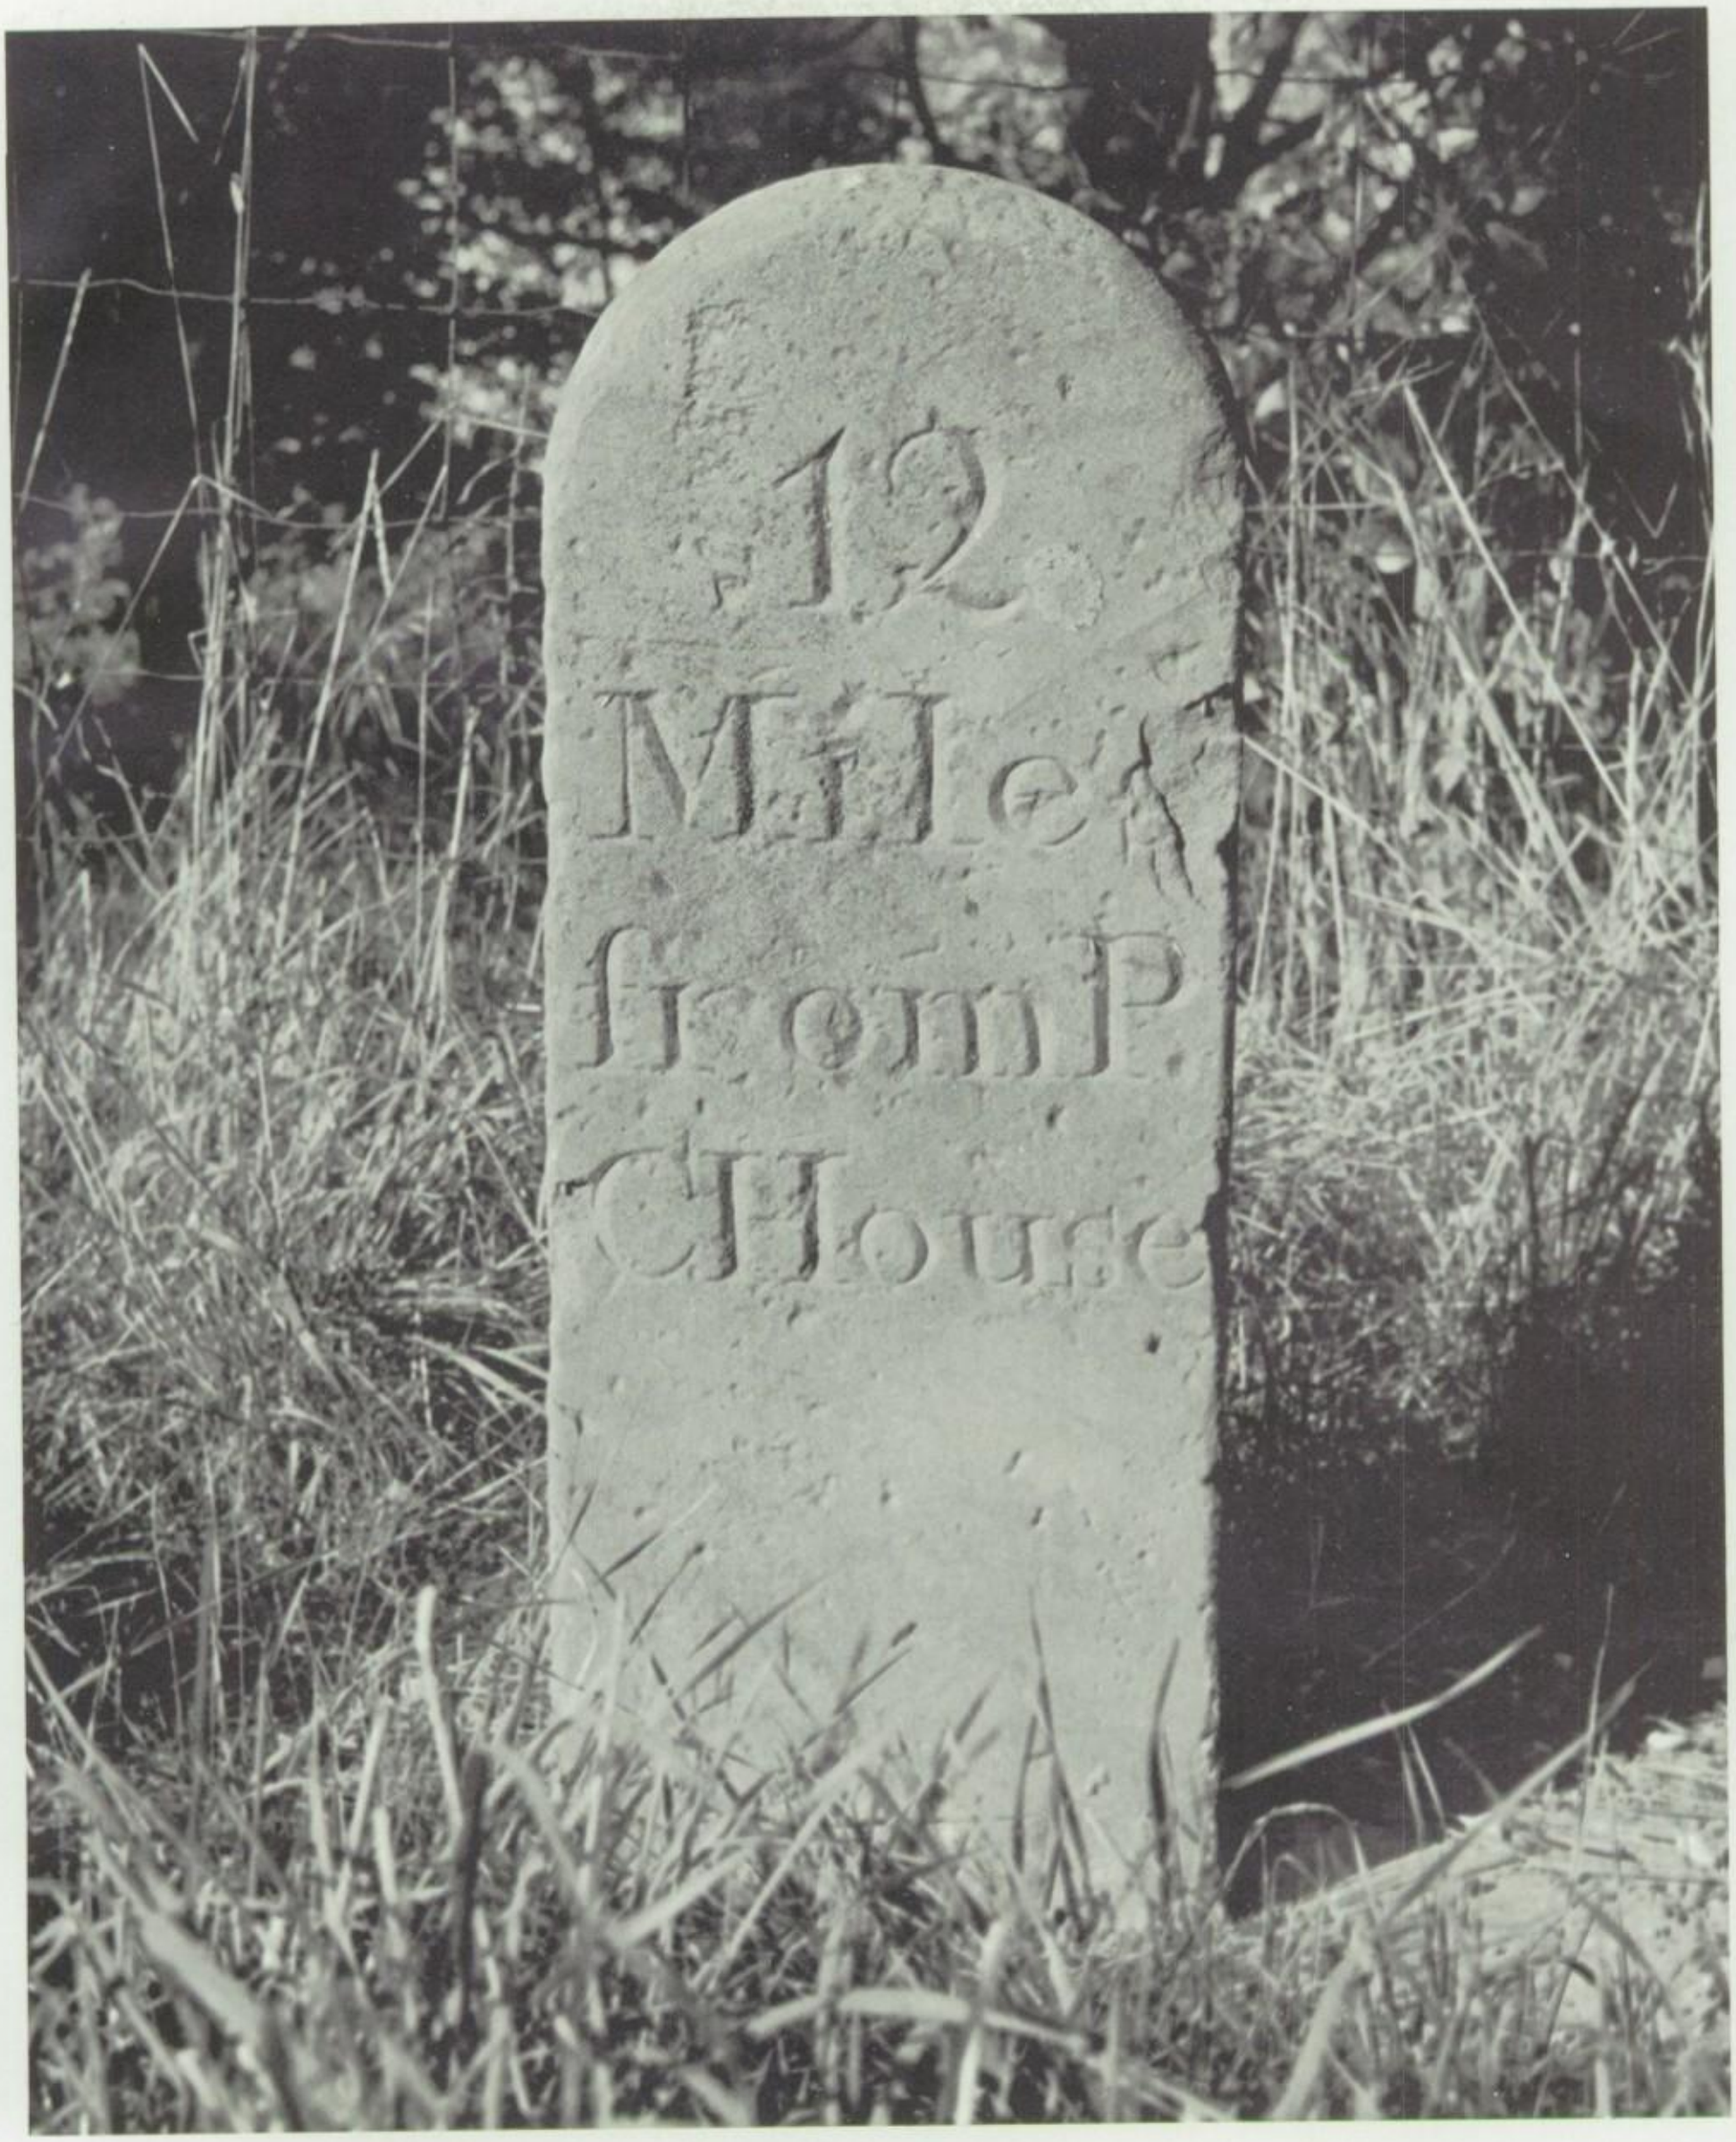
MILLBROOK
CS

Sixty Eight



The Senior Class of 1968
presents

Hail to thee, our Alma Mater
Colors blue and gray.
Once again we'll fight for Millbrook
Victory today!
Fight for Millbrook,
Fight for Millbrook
We will show the way.
Hail to thee, our Alma Mater
Hail to blue and gray!

Live thy life,
Young and old,
Like yon oak,
Bright in Spring,
Living gold;

Summer-rich
Then, and then
All its leaves
Fallen at length,
Look, he stands
Trunk and bough,
Naked strength!

In Memoriam

WILLIAM W. MONEY

JOHN P. MANZI

PHILLIP D. MITCHELL

It wasn't so long ago that three boys left us. There were meaningless words pertaining to a small godless swamp existing on the other side of the world. A lone voice asked, "What's it all about?", but in the darkness no one answered. It was all so unreal. The nowhere pennisula was labeled Viet Nam. And there was talk of war, and men dying in this nowhere land. But no one really believed it until it struck close to home and made those three boys, men. They were young and wanting life, but how do you parallel youth and this desire, with death. It is a sorrow not easily endured.

We knew Bill and his warm personality, mannerly disposition, and his captivating smile. We knew his blue eyes that sparkled with his laughter. We saw his body sweat for his team under the lights in the gym at those Friday night games. He was a magnificent athlete and although he didn't smile knowlingly, but just simply smiled--we smiled proudly.

John Peter Manzi served his school, his community and his country to the best of his ability. While in school, his attributes were displayed in various manners--on the athletic field, on the stage and as class treasurer for four years. Always ready with a smile and a thoughtful word of encouragement, that was John Peter.

Phil was the quiet one. He was big for his age but he had a gentle manner that made him a great many friends. Phil was only in our class for four years, but his memory will always be with us. We will always be proud to say that he was our friend.

Why was courage here fatal? Is all that remains just a plaque; an ivy covered stone? Hardly. They say that life is what you make it. Can't death be that way too? Death in some minds means the ultimate end. To Bill, John and Phil it didn't. With them we had shared laughter, and life. They had walked down the very same halls we walk down every day. We had gone our separate ways, and they theirs. This time to walk quite different halls; halls that some of us would dare not pass, and if were to, we'd only crawl. Their halls had been trenches, jungle paths and halls of death. They were men. Supposedly, man was God's final creation. But if there is a level of existence between God and man, if there be a zenith, a creation that surpasses man, then they are of that level more fittingly so. If we could only partake of the infinite strength and unknown element beyond courage that these men definitely had, we would surely have a utopia.

HOW DO YOU MEASURE-UP?

From birth until the day we die we are constantly subjected to one means or another of measurement. The results obtained in many instances can be controlled by each of us. What the results will be depends often on what we want them to be.

You have been measured in school, by various tests, and these will continue in institutions of higher learning and finally during your chosen work in life. Whether or not you successfully meet the competition of life dpends on the efforts you have made to face up to adult requirements, that is, the adults of your generation. The challenge is handed down to you, are you ready for measurement by your peers?

Glenn E. Manning

TO THE GRADUATING CLASS OF 1968

There seems to be in the world today a certain amount of frustration, confusion, and doubt among many young persons of your generation regarding what one's role or purpose should be in a society that is almost daily being shaken to its very core by the everchanging challenges and demands of a new technology, emerging social revolution, and a shifting tide of moral values and beliefs. It is understandable that in such a world there may be those who would seek to retreat to the easy comfort of noninvolvement--to shut themselves off from that which is difficult for them to comprehend, pretending that such matters do not affect them in their cozy, little sphere of nonconcern. From the cowardice of such would our society ever regress. The world has never been commanded by turtles hiding in their shells. To be a person in the world today requires that one be alive--alive and active in that which is going on. Your destiny lies in your ability to think, to serve, and to be involved. Reach out to the world and the world will grasp your hand. Stand tall in the world and the world cannot help but notice. You are the new men and women of today who can in your own individual lives remold our social order and make it greater than it has ever been before.

Well, we've just done the impossible - that is getting a yearbook out on time! We are deeply indebted to Mr. Briggs for struggling with us in our attempts to schedule pictures according to the newly devised ABC system of secondary education. At times, it seemed impossible that anything would congeal from the conglomeration of conflicts that hounded us continually. Thanks to the co-operation of Mr. Davenport (for excusing students from band for pictures numerous times), Mr. Manning (for his help in scheduling pictures), and many other faculty members for their invaluable advice, something did emerge from the confusion which we call the MILESTONE.

SENIORS

I will never forget Millbrook, as it is the most wonderful experience in my life so far. I'd like to thank all the sponsors that made it possible for me to come here to Millbrook. I'll never forget all the friends I made when I came here. I'll miss you all very much when I go back to Chile!

I am glad I was able to be a part in the American Field Service program - an experience for both of us - and I know that future AFS programs in Millbrook will be a success.

Class Will

Janet Andrews wills her height to Miss Richards and the wonderful ride to and from vocational school to whomever wants it.

Mary Ann Bennett leaves her singing ability to Betsy Hansen, her green hair to Mrs. Galli and her clarinet to the next "lucky" person who plays it.

Pat Benza leaves baby jars of fruit salad to Mrs. Baker and her long hair to Susan Eggleston.

Jonathan Boice wills his sideburns and his grease spot on the parking lot to John Olson, and his G. M. C. Truck to the Senior Class.

Art Braxton wills his height to Mike.

Pam Burns leaves her love for GTO's to Bill Manzi and a pinch on the arm to "Pumpkin".

Mary Busha leaves her "speed shopping" to someone who is slow.

Linda Cale wills Bill Triebal an infinite amount of Kleenex and handkerchiefs.

Teri Carvajal wills the next A. F. S. student the ability to speak English so he won't experience the troubles of understanding and spelling that she's had.

Alena Casse wills a place on the first clarinet stand to Nancy Clark, and a full schedule to anyone who can take it.

Al DeBonis wills his circled 65's to anyone in Mrs. Burford's Math classes who could know as little as he did and pass, and his M. G. to Bill Hurst.

Andrea Di Marco leaves her wing position on the soccer field to Linda Fitch, and her "Jack of Hearts" and a Hero to Rachel Davenport.

Judy Downing wills "The Chuna" to Jay Knickerbocker, her plastic knife to Rachel Davenport, and the thrill of being Prom Queen to the next lucky Junior girl.

Eric Engh wills his collection of rule books to Kevin Lysaght, and a lifesized picture of Whoopee Johnson to Mrs. Galli.

Dave Flanagan leaves a pinch on the arm to Karen Setaro and his years in French class to anyone dumb enough to take that course.

Dave Gamache leaves Harvey Marek his football spikes and 40 lbs. of extra blocking weight.

Warren Geisler wills his "ability" to catch forward passes to Pete Roosa, and his "innocent" blush to anyone who can control it.

Bob Hagerty wills the first annual "Jim Thorpe Award" to Kevin Lysaght.

Bill Hammond wills a first trumpet chair to Kevin O'Brien.

Jane Harper wills Pam Secor one piece of bubble gum and two butter-rum lifesavers.

Carol Jornov leaves her love for Number 85 to Coach Guertin, and her love for Bookkeeping II to Bill Manzi.

Jill Keeley wills her love for French to Antoinette Woods, her quiet nature to Marta Moore, and a good punch to Mr. Speed.

Yvonne Kishbough wills John Cale her ability to sing.

Janice Knickerbocker wills a pinch in the arm to Steve Wing and John Lees, and her talking ability to Marta Moore.

Bill Mac leaves his position as shortstop to Kevin Lang, and his gym class flag to Kevin Lysaght.

Gerald Maggiacomo wills 15 shares of Gate-Way Vending stock to Mr. Speed.

Tony Magnarella wills his bookkeeping ability to Bill Manzi, and his seat in Business Law to anyone who can take it.

Connie Marshall leaves her elephant costume to Miss Richards, and her ability to blush to Perry Rollins.

Marcella Molella wills her ability to cut up people to Steve Petrone, and her ability to tan easily to Nancy Estes.

Karen Money leaves her love of gym class to Karen and Beth, and bus #7 to Tommy.

Jeff Philipbar wills his ambitiousness to Pat O'Leary, his achievements in Art and his ability to get along with Mrs. Horton to Steve Wing.

Bill Pine leaves his fleece-lined jacket to Mr. Manning.
Sue Roeller wills Rachel a ten foot bottle of aspirin and a smile.
Pete Sorenson leaves his baritone Sax in the band to the next unlucky person who plays it.
Tom Thomassen leaves his mud puddle to Mrs. Galli.
Pat Walsh wills a set of bendable guitar strings to Dink, "Bard Rock" to Steve Colmenero, and a pack of Marlboros to Bill Hurst.
Dan Warren leaves his bangs to Pat O'Leary; may he wear them in good health.
Art Weiland leaves it to anyone who wants it; if he has it.
Bev Williams wills Kim Ferguson the experience of our mutual problem and the explanation as to why fools fall in love.
Fred Winchcombe wills his seat on the Varsity Basketball bench to Soupy Campbell.
Anne Wing wills Bill Hurst the sole title of "J. D.", Harvey Marek her Victorian garb, Kevin Lysaght her love for ridge runners, and to Perro the white wagon.
Skip Wing wills his size to Steve Petrone, and his admiration for Joanne to some lucky guy.

Prophecy

Janet Andrews has replaced Wilt Chamberlain as the starting center for the World Champions 76'ers.
Mary Ann Bennett received an Academy Award for her portrayal of Lady Macbeth, done entirely in Swahili.
Patricia Benza died of exhaustion after go-going at a dance all night.
Jonathan Boice made world news today when he transplanted the first mechanical heart using a carburetor from his '58 Ford.
Arthur Braxton is now the leading NFL punt returner playing for the Green Bay Packers.
Pamela Burns is a Miss after being a day early for her wedding. That's a switch!
Linda Cale, head nurse at a leading New York hospital, fainted today at the sight of blood.
Teri Carvajal was ostracized from her home town after returning as a typical American teenager.
Alena Casse shocked the world of the intellects today upon her recitation of the complete works of the Encyclopedia Brittanica.
Gerald Ciferri's death has been attributed to suffocation. The autopsy revealed that he choked on his long hoped for beard.
Albert DeBonis was rushed to the hospital today after being bitten by Smokey the Bear near his forest ranger tower.
Andrea DiMarco has now been married for one year - a new record for this miss. We hope Andrea and her 12th husband will be very happy.
Judy Downing finally told her father, "Either Chuna goes or I go." Judy is now apartment shopping.
Eric Engh has just scored his thousandth goal playing for the Rangers; he's the goalie!
David Flanagan is now the Editor of a leading paper in the Queen City of the Hudson.
David Gamache's chest is balding, and the world has finally learned the secret of his great strength.

Warren Geisler killed himself today after finally understanding a James Joyce novel, and went to church for the first time ever.

Mary Busha has finally mastered parallel parking.

Bob Hagerty has just informed the class that, due to an unfortunate accident, his Jaguar will not be in operation again for another three years.

Dopey-Dope Bill Hammond gave up his career when he forgot his music for trumpet on the opening night of the NBC Orchestra.

Mary Jane Harper found that she could actually speak when she caught her finger in a typewriter and had to yell for help.

Donna Hutt died of embarrassment when her voice cracked singing "Madame Butterfly" at the new Met.

Carol Jornov received her country's highest award when she finally managed to balance the United States' budget.

Jill Keeley is now serving a 10 year sentence for assault and battery, after finally retaliating against Mr. Speed.

Yvonne Kishbough caused a financial panic today at the N. Y. Stock Exchange when she made a slight error of 12 billion dollars.

Janice Knickerbocker was found maimed today after her cat, Linus, sprang from a tree and clawed her to death.

Ed Kral was found missing.

Barbara Lawrence, to the amazement of everyone, willed her entire fortune to Greer School, her blessed alma mater.

Bill MacMorran, the flashy shortstop of the L.A. Dodgers, set a new record for 13 errors in one inning, breaking his old record of 9.

Gerald Maggiacomo died of frostbite after being trapped in one of his ice machines for three days.

Tony Magnarella is still sitting dazed outside the burned ruins of the LampPost.

Connie Marshall collapsed on the stage after finally being chosen Miss Pamona Grange.

Karen Money died of starvation after being trapped in a Volkswagen for twenty days.

Jeff Philipbar, when he absentmindedly forgot his shells during the World's Champion Trap Shooting Contest, whipped out his paint brushes and used them.

Bill Pine started an Indian uprising.

Susan Roeller is now living happily in the braes of Scotland being serenaded by bag pipes.

Peter Sorenson was chased up a tree by Albert the Woodsman.

Tom Thomassen has married a water buffalo and his happily roaming in the swamplands of India.

Pat Walsh finally took the marbles out of his mouth and was understood for the first time in his life.

Danny Warren has just been awakened by Mrs. Galli after a 4-year nap.

Art Weiland died on lonely mountain top trying to find life.

Fred Winchcombe, the unsurpassed flying ace, has succeeded in shooting down the Red Baron.

Bev Williams is now living happily with Jerry, five dogs, four cats, three birds, two rabbits, and a guinea pig.

Ann Wing and Cliff have found a happy hermitage not far from the Wing estate residence.

Ray Wing, head coach of Millbrook Varsity Basketball Team, has succeeded in hitting an all time low.

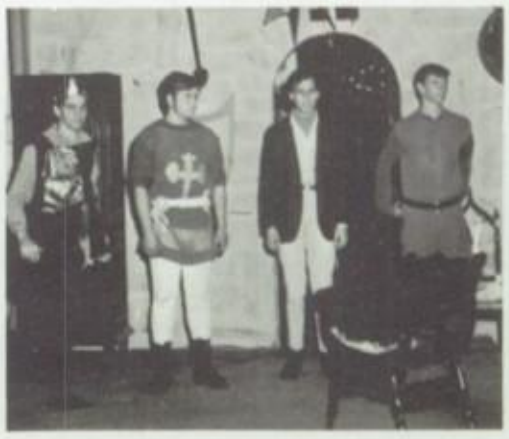
Dig the crazy chair!!!

PLEASE! Give me my cue!

We quit!!!

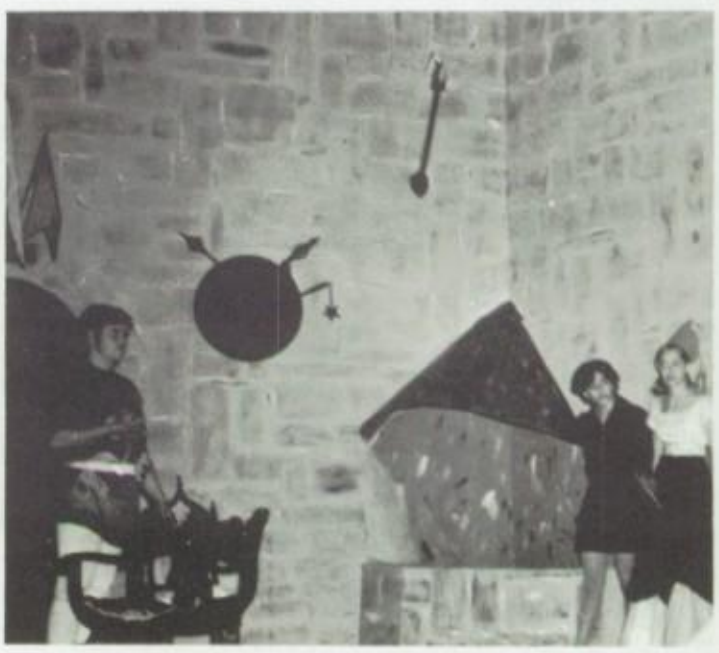
Hamburger again?!?!?



Don't call me kingsie babe.

If you think I'm ugly, you should see my sister!

But you can't go in there, that's the ladies' room!



Merlin's flying around the parapet again???

My arm feels like it's coming off!!

Fabulous Fred misses again.

Subtract another six points.

I feel high!! I feel high!!

Boy! Those calisthenics are tough.

But Coach, it's comfy down here.

I use Ban and still make tackles.

Get those cheerleaders off the field!

AND NOW.....

Now is a time for well-deserved personal satisfaction.

IBM congratulates you on your achievements.

Now is a time for thought. Your present accomplishments will last a lifetime. The effects of the decisions you make now will probably last a lifetime too.

Now is a time for action. A time to set out to be the best in the field of your choosing. Knowledge is the key -- its fruits will also last a lifetime.
